

[Immersion Optics Fluid Dispenser]

Abstract

To increase the optical resolution, microscope users routinely employ high aperture lenses. The highest resolution is attained through the use of immersion lenses with associated immersion fluids. A non-interfering delivery system is herein described to accurately dispense a controlled amount of this fluid precisely at the proper interface location.